Origin and Purpose

Elisha Goodman, a respected figure in Christian intercession, developed these prayer points to help believers combat spiritual challenges systematically. The 21 day framework is rooted in biblical principles, reflecting the significance of numbers in scripture, such as the 21 days of fasting and prayer mentioned in the Old Testament. The primary purpose is to equip Christians with a powerful tool to seek God's intervention in various aspects of life, including health, finances, relationships, and spiritual growth.

Structure of the Prayer Points

The prayer points are divided into daily focuses, each addressing specific spiritual concerns. This structured approach allows for comprehensive coverage of issues that may hinder believers from experiencing God's best.
