2. Warm-Up and Cool Down

Always start with a 5 to 10-minute warm-up of brisk walking or dynamic stretches to prepare your muscles. After your run, cool down with static stretches to aid recovery.

3. Stay Hydrated

Hydration is key to performance. Drink water throughout the day and consider having a small amount before your runs.

A balanced diet is crucial for fueling your training. Incorporate:

- Carbohydrates: Whole grains, fruits, and vegetables for energy.
- Proteins: Lean meats, beans, and legumes for muscle repair.
- Fats: Healthy fats from nuts, seeds, and avocados for overall health.

Injury Prevention Strategies

As a beginner, you may be prone to overuse injuries. Here are some strategies to prevent them:

Increase your running time or distance gradually. Avoid jumping into high mileage too quickly.

2. Cross-Training

Incorporate low-impact activities like swimming or cycling on cross-training days to build endurance without straining your joints.

Don't skip rest days. They are essential for allowing your body to recover and adapt to the training.

4. Stretching and Strengthening

Include stretching and strength exercises in your routine to improve flexibility and strengthen supporting muscles.
