Understanding the Structure of the AP Literature and Composition Practice Test

The ap literature and composition practice test mirrors the format of the official AP exam, which is divided into two main sections: multiple-choice questions and free-response essays. Each section assesses different skills and knowledge areas related to literary analysis and composition.

Multiple-Choice Section

This section typically contains around 55 questions that must be answered within 60 minutes. The questions focus on reading comprehension, analysis of prose and poetry, and identification of literary devices and techniques. Students are presented with excerpts from various literary genres and must answer questions that evaluate their ability to interpret meaning, tone, theme, and stylistic elements.

Free-Response Section

The free-response section consists of three essay prompts that students have 120 minutes to complete. These essays require students to analyze literary works in depth, develop coherent arguments, and demonstrate strong writing skills. The prompts often include:

- Analysis of a given poem
- Analysis of a prose passage
- An open-ended question requiring students to analyze a novel, play, or other literary work of their choice
