Troubleshooting Common Login Issues

While logging into Cengage Diet Analysis Plus is generally a seamless process, users may encounter issues from time to time. Here are some common problems and troubleshooting tips:

1. Incorrect Credentials

If you receive an error message stating that your username or password is incorrect, double-check the following:

- Ensure that you are using the correct username and password combination.
- Check for any typos or case sensitivity.
- If you have recently changed your password, ensure you are using the most current one.

2. Account Locked

Repeated unsuccessful login attempts may result in your account being temporarily locked. In this case, wait for a short period before trying again or reach out to your institution's IT support for assistance.

3. Browser Compatibility

Sometimes, browser issues can hinder the login process. Try the following:

- Clear your browser's cache and cookies.
- Update your browser to the latest version.
- Use a different browser or device to see if the issue persists.

4. Connectivity Issues

If you cannot access the Cengage website at all, check your internet connection. If your connection is stable, the service may be temporarily down. In this case, try accessing the site later.

5. Technical Support

If you continue to experience difficulties, consider contacting Cengage customer support or your educational institution's IT department for further assistance.
