The Attack on Pearl Harbor

Background and Prelude

The attack on Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, was a surprise military strike by the Imperial Japanese Navy Air Service against the United States naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. This offensive was intended to prevent the U.S. Pacific Fleet from interfering with Japan's planned military actions in Southeast Asia. Leading up to the attack, tensions between the United States and Japan had escalated due to Japan's aggressive expansionism and U.S. embargoes on essential materials such as oil and steel.

Details of the Attack

Early on the morning of December 7, Japanese aircraft launched a devastating assault on the naval base. The attack lasted approximately two hours and resulted in significant damage to the U.S. Pacific Fleet. Key targets included battleships, destroyers, airfields, and facilities. The battleship USS Arizona was famously sunk, resulting in the loss of over 1,100 crew members. Overall
