Understanding Angels

Angels are typically perceived as spiritual beings created by God. They are often depicted as benevolent entities that assist, guide, and protect human beings. Categories of Angels

Angels can be classified into various categories based on their roles, hierarchies, and functions. Here are some of the primary categories:

2. Cherubim

Cherubim are often depicted as guardians of divine mysteries and knowledge. They are commonly associated with the presence of God and are described in various religious texts as having multiple wings and faces.

3. Seraphim

Seraphim are known for their fiery nature and are said to be in close proximity to God. They are associated with worship and praise, often depicted as surrounding the throne of God in heavenly visions.

Every individual is believed to have a guardian angel assigned to them. These angels are thought to provide guidance, protection, and support throughout a person's life.
